There is something about high school that makes it a different experience for everyone.

If you're a freshman, it is something new.

If you are a sophomore, it is something exciting because the future seems open to numerous possibilities.

Juniors, meanwhile, are feeling something explorative as they begin to consider their potential career paths.

Seniors often reflect on their four years at Highland with feelings of fear, independence, responsibility, and success.

It is uncertain if any of us have an idea of what the future may hold or what we will encounter on a daily basis. There is always something that doesn't go as planned, whether it is good or bad. Regardless, there is something out there for everyone.

The students have lives that deserve to

Photos are the importance of these precious years. Still, life goes on after these memories, but it makes that next step in life a lot better when there are days like these to always look back on.

Fun in the Sun

There is nothing better than those lazy, hazy, crazy days of summer. Responsibilities are ignored or simply pushed aside in favor of more enjoyable activities. After all, it's been a very cold winter, and when summer arrives, it marks a time for many students to cut loose and have fun.

Need to catch up on some sleep? Summer is the perfect time to rest and relax without the stress of the normal school-day routine. Students also seem to enjoy staying out late with friends to watch movies or heading to the beach to catch some rays. The possibilities are limitless and free.

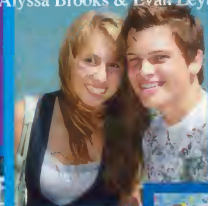

Summer days are either jam-packed with fun things to do or completely open until there is a phone call from a friend who says, "Let's go!" Whether you're going to see a movie to escape the heat, diving into a swimming pool, headed to the amusement park, driving to the beach, going on a road trip vacation, catching a few innings of a baseball game, or simply just hanging out with friends, summer is definitely the best time of the year.

It's Another Year

Each year students at Highland High School return to school, and when they do, there's always a new feeling to go along with it. As the summer months come to a close, students anxiously await the start of school. As the year begins, students adjust quickly to new classes with new teachers, new books, and a new locker. There is, of course, a fresh, exciting new outlook on school and on what the future may hold.

The hallways are filled with students, many of whom you recognize and many others who don't seem to recognize you, but you manage to push your way through to your first class. You quickly enter, find a seat, and the bell rings. Wiping away the nervous perspiration, you are thankful that you were on time. You realize, too, that this is your first class on the first day of school. You smile because it's just the beginning of what you know is going to be a great year.

Activity highlights lunchtime, breaks

During lunchtime at Highland High School, the area fondly referred to as The Commons, is the place to be. On any typical day, once students finish their lunch, they quickly exit the cafeteria and cross the hallway and then, of course, they are in The Commons. Once in The Commons, equipped with comfy, carpeted lounge benches, students can meet with friends to talk about the day's events or share some juicy gossip. It's a place where everyone can take a break and have fun. During lunch hours, too, many students take advantage of the Media Center (a.k.a. school library) to work on homework, surf on-line, or to browse through magazines. The Media Center is a quiet place for students to relax after lunch. Still, The Commons is the most popular place to hang out for students. Moreover, students have the opportunity to relax, whether it be between classes or especially during lunch. If you are one of those students who have never spent a lunch hour in The Commons or in the Media Center, give it a try.

Let's Stay Together

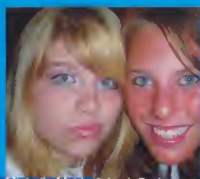

A friend is a close companion with whom secrets are shared, memories are made, support is provided, and relationships are formed. Friends are an important chapter in a high school student's life. Texting your best friend, gossiping about your ex-boyfriend, or being a partner in crime, friendships are what help you survive the long day of school. Some of these friendships may have started back in kindergarten, while others might have been made through the last four years. Friends may not mold you into the people you will become, but they will help you to realize your full potential in life. Furthermore, friendships can turn into more than just friends. High school relationships are rough, but many have beat the odds and are still going strong. There are so many possibilities, and whether you are single or you are in a serious relationship, high school is only the beginning. Boyfriends and girlfriends may be the ones to help us get through the day, but in the end, relationships will always be a memory of your high school days.

No School Today!

Throughout the school year, there are few days when school is not in session. In-service half-days, holiday breaks, and snow days are what the students of Highland look forward to. This year, we not only had a snow day, but we also had a flood day. On September 15, just a few days after the Little Calumet River flooded, school was called off. Some students helped sandbag, some volunteered their time at a local church, some helped their family members clean houses, and others had a chance to relax with friends. Highland also had a day in January when school was canceled due to extreme winter weather. This is very rare for Highland. In fact, over the last 12 years, school has been canceled fewer than 10 times due to poor weather conditions.

Half-days provide a chance to grab lunch with a few friends before work starts, catch a few extra hours at work, or go home and catch up on some sleep that was lost from all of the studying the night before. When school is not in session, students can always find something to do that is fun and exciting.

Sing Your Hearts Out

In Our Spare Time

The long days of high school are just a blink of an eye. What you do in your spare time with your friends tends to be more memorable than sitting behind a desk or walking through the crowded halls of Highland. Whether this be playing ultimate frisbee or four square in B Lot, taking pictures with your friends, singing your heart out, or relaxing with a good book, this time is YOUR time to do whatever you enjoy. Some people may like to scrapbook, some may like to go to DC's Country Junction, and others may enjoy spending time with a significant other. Whatever you choose, make the most of the time you have with the ones you love.

Working hard for extra cash

From flip-flopping burgers, to cleaning clothes, Highland High School students work hard to make extra money. Most students spend their hard earned money paying for gas or going out on the weekends. Despite taking time away from their friends and homework, most students are happy to be earning money. Some students even get extra benefits from their jobs. "I love working at FroYo," senior Stephanie DeBoer said. "I love my co-workers and I always get free ice cream!"

Many high school students agree that a part-time job after school has helped them become more responsible and mature, and it has also provided them with a good life experience.

Homecoming Festivities

As the school year progresses, there is Homecoming Spirit Week. Year after year, students at Highland High School always show their best school spirit during that time. This year was no exception as students participated in Spirit Week to show their passion for Highland. Superstars, which is a friendly competition between the classes, also had a role in this year's festivities. Providing many laughs, the Seniors took the spotlight with their defeat against the juniors. To finalize the week, the Homecoming Dance represents the highlight. For all of those students who participated in Homecoming, they created memories that will last forever.

Fans show school spirit

Highland's performance on the football field may have been a bit gloomy, but in the stands, fans and students cheered loud and strong, regardless of the game's outcome. The excitement in the game ended shortly after Highland's football players took the field. Later, much of the enthusiasm centered around the Homecoming Court and the announcement of the King and Queen. As the Court gathered on the field, Angelo Pasquinelli and Rebecca Arredondo were crowned King and Queen, respectively. Many of the fans remained as the game resumed and still they cheered despite an unfortunate defeat. But Highland's 36-0 loss to Kankakee Valley didn't doom the Homecoming enthusiasm of its students.

2008 Homecoming Court

Highland put a cap on its Homecoming activities on October 11, 2008, with the Homecoming dance that featured the theme "Hollywood." It was a fun evening for many students, who were treated like Hollywood stars. The cafeteria was decorated with Hollywood backdrops, large film reels, and it even included a red carpet. As the evening progressed, students enjoyed dancing the night away. Afterward, many students went out to eat at trendy places like T.G.I. Friday's, House of Kobe, and Red Robin. Students, of course, captured those memories of Homecoming by taking numerous pictures of their friends and other couples. Undoubtedly, everyone was made to feel like a star at this special dance.

High school wouldn't be the same if it weren't for the people in it. Our friends and teachers play a huge role in our high school journey, and without them, it wouldn't be the same. Our teachers help us to become better people and to learn new things, while our friends are near to help us get through the tough times and to be there to enjoy the good times. Each person is unique in their own special way, and although we may like the same things or have the same hair color, we are different too. JUNIOR

Kristina Jackura

Kristina was born in Palos Heights, Illinois and moved to Highland when she was three. She loves hanging out with her friends, listening to music, and going to the movies. She says she can't wait for her senior year!

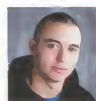

Donovan Davis

Donovan, or DJ, enjoys watching the movie Freedom Writers. His role model is one of his classmates, Jack Monroe. One day he hopes to be just like Jack. DJ looks forward to getting his own car, college, and starting a family.

Megan O'Day

If you don't know Megan than this should be exciting news for you. She is the starting pitcher for the girls' softball team. She is outgoing and always looking for a good time. She also enjoys visiting Chicago for fun.

Anthony Yuhan

Anthony's favorite high school memory is his freshman Homecoming. In the afternoon he attends the Hammond Area Career Center, hoping to become a mechanic. He would love for you to sing "Happy Birthday" to him on October 11!

Emily Moss

Emily is an extraordinary girl with hopes of opening her own restaurant some day. She also plans to backpack in Europe for two years. Emily tends to be wild and crazy outside of school. She says she admires actress Reese Witherspoon.

Morgan Wehmer

Athlete, dancer, singer, self-proclaimed terrible driver, and friend are all words to describe Morgan. Her plans for the future include attending college and becoming a nurse. If she could travel anywhere she would go to Europe.

If detentions were a fall sport, Kyle Stover would be an all-time MVP. He is an amazing (which honestly means average, he says) student who would rather be hanging out with friends instead of being trapped in a "classroom."

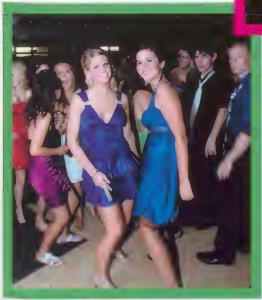

Holly Homrich

Holly has lived in Highland since Kindergarten and she claims high school has "gone by way to fast." Her favorite class is, and will always be, seventh hour orchestra. One reason Holly comes to school is because of the Bosco sticks.

Samantha Kerber

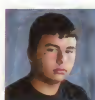

Soccer, basketball, American sign language, and hanging out with friends all describe Samantha Kerber's interests. Kerber is involved in soccer and basketball during the school year. Her seven-hour school day is brightened when she goes to American sign language with teacher Mrs. Truskowski. Once the school day is over, Kerber's favorite thing to do is hangout with friends. Her favorite part of high school so far has been meeting new people and she is excited to hang out with friends and play sports during the next three years.

High school has many new opportunities that weren't available in middle school. Clubs and organizations are some of the exciting things that are available to every student. Foreign languages, theater, or community service groups are all offered at Highland, along with many more. Becoming a part of a club is a way to meet new people, help others, and show off what you are capable of doing. It's more productive than going home and not having anything to do. Whether you are highly motivated or more on the lazy side, joining a club or an academic organization is a great way to leave your mark at Highland High School.

Class Selection

Highland High School offers a variety of classes and courses that challenge all students to succeed. All students are exposed to many different experiences which provides for educational benefits for the student to then use when he or she finally graduates and enters the real world. Ideally, it is best for students to be involved in as much as possible and to take classes which help to shape their future goals.

Expedition America

Civil Rights Adventure

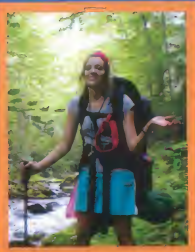

This year 11 students and three teachers at Highland High School studied everything there was to know about the Civil Rights Movement. After studying for three weeks during the summer, they all set out for a 10-day trip in which they visited museums and talked with participants in the movement. During those 10 days, the participants cooked all their own food. Sponsor Mr. Blumenthal said that they had "hobo dinners," meaning they only ate ramen, oatmeal, pancakes, and peanut butter and jelly sandwiches on bagels. While the trip was long and exhausting, students had a once-in-a-lifetime experience. Reflecting on her experience senior Sami DeWinter said, "We all became a family, and together we made this experience a poignant moment in our lives."

"I'm Dick Stanton!"

"And now the stage is set for murder..." In this suspense drama, HTC (Highland Theatre Company) went above and beyond their expectations. The play featured an author's story coming to life and a hidden will becoming a motif for murder. The play, too, had a comedic side, including Dick Stanton, the type-cast juvenile "stuck in the middle," who turns to the audience and announces that he, indeed, is "Dick Stanton!" The cast went through intense rehearsals and demanding directors. They also had the help of other students involved in HTC to build and paint the set. Nevertheless, the finished product was well worth the work. The show went on without a hitch, and the house was full and rocking.

Behind the Scenes

The Advanced Theatre and Beginning Theatre classes were always planning something. Whether it was the short scenes, the fun tongue twisters, or dressing up in Mrs. Kappes' costume room, there was always fun to be had. Not only did the Advanced Theatre class participate in the Spring Musical, but it performed a night of One-Act Plays: Seven Wives for Dracula and After Hours. What you don't see the night of the show is all the people backstage that tend to go unnoticed. Lighting, sound, hair and makeup, stage manager, and scene changes are all important aspects of the show. Without the help of the auditorium staff members, the show could not go on.

Lords and Ladies for A Day

A select few from Highland's varsity choir class, along with the theater class, put together a holiday feaste for family and friends to attend. With humorous characters, the medieval feaste was fun for the whole family. Music, a play, and food were the perfect combination to celebrate the holidays.

"I gained a lot of new friendships by practicing for this every week," junior Alex Benton said. "It was a lot of fun and a lot of the songs were really awesome to learn. And the play was more funnier this year than last, so that's good."

Over there on "Bali Hai"

On May 8, 2009, in Monbeck Auditorium, the Highland Theatre Company was performing their annual spring musical. This year's pick was Roger and Hammerstein's "South Pacific." Starring seniors Chris Morris as Emile, Valen Trevino as Lt. Cable, Laura Rempart as Bloody Mary, Woodie Conner as Billis, and sophomore Brittney Urban as Nellie, the show was a huge hit. Due to illness, the Saturday show was canceled, however everyone came back strong for the final show on Sunday. After the long and tiring rehearsals, the cast came through yet again for another great musical.

Singing on Stage

If you often catch yourself singing along to your favorite song or if you have a strong desire to entertain and perform, then being a member of the choir at Highland High School is probably something to consider. There are several different levels, so there is always a place for your singing abilities. The different choir groups also sing a wide range of song choices and perform at a number of different shows during the course of the school year. Plus, it's a great way to meet new friends who share the same interests.

Band & Color Guard

Layers of Performance

Marching Band and Color Guard require much dedication and even more hard work. This year the band was faced with several obstacles, but they were able to overcome them all.

"It was a great season overall," sophomore Kendall Worries said. "Everyone put a lot of hard work into it and we had a lot of fun."

The band and guard started out their season with Drill Week and Band Camp prior to the start of school. Since then, they performed their show titled "Layers" at both of the home football games. They also performed in competitions at Kankakee Valley, North Judson, and ISSMA, where they received gold and visual achievement.

"Everyone worked so hard and it all paid off! We had an awesome season," junior Brittani Tobin said.

Don't Get Caught Up in the Snow

Snowflurry was a blast! Kids went through different activities and learned such things as teamwork, responsibility, and even on-line safety. The groups were made up of about ten fifth and sixth graders and up to three group leaders. One game they played was the Chocolate River, and while many were disappointed that it did not involve real chocolate, they still had working together as a team. They were rewarded with pizza and ice cream to re-boost their energy levels (which many group leaders did not seem to think was necessary). But when the whole evening was over, many students and group leaders were sad to see it end. The fifth graders who went this year undoubtedly will return next year for another action-packed night like the one they experienced.

Teaching: More Than Just a Profession

Student Teaching

For the second consecutive year, Highland High School has offered a class that allows juniors and seniors to learn the basics of teaching while gaining valuable experience in the teaching profession. Students go to Merkley, Johnston, Warren, or Southridge Elementary Schools in Highland and student teach a class for about 1 1/2 hours each morning. These high school students spend the first six weeks of school acquiring all of the basics of teaching elementary school students. Being a student teacher doesn't only involve going to the classroom in the morning, but participating in after-school activities, class parties, and even field trips. Many students agree that this class is a momentous experience, and if you are considering being a teacher in the future, this is a great place start.

It's OK to Pray

FEARLESS is an organization of students who pray for the physical, emotional, and spiritual needs of our school, our nation, our loved ones, and our friends. Sending out encouragement cards to those in need is a part of the group's ministry which has existed at Highland High School for the last ten years. Through the efforts of its members and after receiving administrative approval, a memorial gathering was held outside of HHS after the death of former student Cassi Polster, to honor her life. FEARLESS also participates in the national "See you at the Pole" each year as well as a "9/11" prayer gathering at the flagpole before school. "God did not give us a spirit that makes us afraid but a spirit of power and love and self control." (2 Timothy 1:7) Any student or staff member is welcome to join this student-led group before and after school each Tuesday.

Something new

The 2009 yearbook featured a new look with the move to digital photography. Additionally, all of the layouts were designed and completed using an internet on-line program called eDesign that was provided by Herff Jones, the school's yearbook printer. The staff and editors made the transition an easy one, though, and produced a great yearbook for all to enjoy, perhaps the best yearbook in the school's history.

Whether you choose to support a team or you are out there playing the game, Highland sports are a BIG part of our high school. Sports are an outlet to let out your frustration, to escape the everyday stress, or to keep yourself active and out of trouble. Highland offers an abundance of sports, each having their own slogans, inside jokes, and friends with the same interests. Some days may be better than others, but the support will never fade.

HIGHLAND TROJAN PRIDE

Regardless of the outcome, athletes at Highland High School have been very fortunate to have the support that they do from their fans. Trojan fans are always there to lift the spirits of the players who play the games, whether at home or on the road. Whether the sport is football, dance, basketball, or soccer, Trojan pride is a feeling, but it also can be seen and heard. All of the sports teams had plenty of support from the cheering section, and for this, athletes at Highland are grateful.

Football Fun

The season for the Highland varsity football team was an exciting adventure which had its many ups and downs. However, it is always a fact that even if the season was not a winning one, the attitudes of the players were always positive. When Highland played Munster, the Trojans did not win, but the school's spirit was great and boosted the moral of the players. It has been an exciting season for these guys. As for the seniors, their high school football games might be no more, but their everlasting relationships will continue. Senior Jordan Graf said he would miss the experience, adding, "I will never forget high school football."

Shining Through

The Highland varsity boys' soccer team finished with a 10-6-1 record. One of the many highlights of the season was the 6-0 victory against Lowell.

"We just really played together as a team and it showed with the outcome," senior Joe Stiglitz said.

The Trojans also played a very exciting game against arch-rival Munster. Unfortunately, Munster scored with three minutes left to seal the 2-1 win. Still, the Trojans put forth an admirable effort.

Ironically, Highland came up against Munster again, but this time for the sectional championship. Although the Trojans displayed great determination, Munster took the title winning 2-0, which ended Highland's season. There is no doubt that the season was unsuccessful.

Trojans: 'Just Believe'

The Highland varsity girls' soccer team finished with a 14-5 record that included many exciting moments over the season.

With such a young team, the girls were not going to let age stop them from winning their second consecutive sectional title. Losing to Munster earlier in the season, they were bound and determined to bring home a victory from sectionals. "We finally started to believe in ourselves," senior Breanna Gresser said. "We came out strong and won the sectional again!" Although the defeat against Lake Central was a tough loss for all, the girls have so much to be proud of.

With such young talent, next year's season will be just as strong, if not stronger.

You Can Do It!

Anything you can do, I can do better; and, apparently, this applies to cross country. Fighting through the season with an overall sixth place in conference; not to mention third at sectionals, and 7th at regionals, these girls have overcome not only their minds, but a terrible season with the weather they were faced with.

Barely placing higher than the guys at regionals, they just could not pull through to semistate. With some of Highland's girls placing in the top 25 runners, the team gave it their best effort. The entire season was a complete success.

Do You Got Soul?

"Sometimes you have to wonder why you're out there, and then I realize it comes down to self-satisfaction and a sense of achievement," said the late Steve Prefontaine, who was regarded as one of premiere runners of his time before tragically dying in a car accident in 1975. Prefontaine's thoughts on training are full of meaning for any dedicated cross country runner.

The Highland boys' cross country team certainly endured a lot during the course of the season. There were many gruesome hours of training and repeatedly running the "Lincoln Loop," there were ice baths after the long, difficult runs; and runners agonized over morning pains in their legs that they had never previously felt before. But being a runner requires an even higher level of dedication than many other sports. Highland's runners know this well.

Lessons Learned

For the first time in many years, the Highland varsity volleyball team may have ended the season with an unfulfilled feeling. The Trojans, after either surpassing 20 wins or nearly reaching that mark for several straight seasons, dipped to 8-17 on the year and 4-7 against conference opponents. Much of the team's struggles could be blamed on their inexperience. The team featured only five seniors. Still, the Trojans gained valuable game experience which should show in the upcoming years.

Season of Firsts

The Highland girls' golf team made sensational strides this season, finishing with a winning record and advancing to the regional for the first time. The program's upward progression can be attributed to the dedication of coach Debra Clements and her golfers.

The season started off with "very early" practices, and as the team improved, they adjusted their goals to match their expectations.

"We knew we had a good team," senior Kaitlin Vianello said, "and that with hard work and a great coach, we were going to surprise people. And that's what we did."

A sweep of Andron and Griffith about midway through the season gave the team confidence heading into the sectional.

Still, Highland's improvement and steady play wasn't surprising to Coach Clements.

"I couldn't be happier with the way this season has gone," she said. "Everyone has just done amazing and I'm proud that these girls finally got the recognition they deserve."

Comeback Kids

The Highland varsity boys' tennis team started out the season with everything going against them, but they still managed to pull off a great season.

In the beginning, the team was forced to practice on Griffith's home courts because Highland's were being resurfaced. It wasn't until about midway through the season when team resumed practicing on their home turf. Ironically, Highland captured the sectional title by defeating Griffith.

"We had a hindrance (practicing) at Griffith, but we overcame them and beat them on their own courts," senior Zach Garcia said.

Highland lost four of its first five matches. However, the Trojans made a huge comeback to win their fifth straight sectional championship.

Boys' Golf

In the fairway

Much of the season was a learning process for the Highland boys' golf team, and is the case in all learning situations, the Trojans slowly matured and developed into a team with plenty of potential.

Led by Ricky Schwartz, Brian Geissler, Seth Peters, Elliot Gabel, and Myles Aburto, Highland did well at the Crown Point Invitational by placing fourth, and near the end of the season, it placed third in the conference championships.

Highland hopes the promise of this season carries over into the next year and that the team will continue to improve.

Going For it All

Outstanding Athlete

Name: Christina Quinn

Grade: 12

The Highland girls' tennis team may have been one of the best teams in the area this season; however, the team's biggest rival, Munster, was just a step better. Highland finished 19-0 against the rest of the teams on its schedule, but 0-2 against Munster, which, inevitably, reached the state finals. Still, Highland won its sixth straight sectional championship and established itself as a dominant program in the area.

The Lady Trojans featured stars throughout their lineup who put in countless hours of practice to achieve the success they earned this season. The athletes who return next year and for many years to come will be hard pressed to duplicate the achievements of this extraordinary team.

Boys' Track

On a Mission

The Highland boys' track and field team had a lot to be proud of this season. Sparked by some top individuals and a good balance throughout, the Trojans performed well in some major meets. For example, the boys captured the top spot in both the Calumet Invitational and in its own Highland Invitational.

Highland finished its season by placing fifth in the conference and sectional meets and 21st at the regional.

Sprinting Ahead

The Highland girls' track and field team might be building for the future, because this year's squad featured a predominantly younger group with just only a handful of seniors.

The Trojans placed third at its own Highland Invitational, 7th in the conference championships, and 6th overall at the sectional.

Softball

Searching for Consistency

The Highland varsity softball team had moments where they felt a sense of accomplishment and, at other times, there were feelings of utter frustration. That's generally how it goes when your team finishes with a 13-14 record.

Still, backed by the pitching of junior Megan O'Day, the Trojans advanced to the finals of the sectional by downing rival Munster, 4-0. The season ended, however, in Highland's next game, losing to Lowell, 5-0, in the championship.

Highland will return several experienced players, and many fans believe there might be even more improvement next season.

After a careful examination of the results of the Highland varsity baseball team, it reveals several positive outcomes. For instance, the Trojans swept Griffith in conference action and they defeated rival Munster in late April. Additionally, Highland enjoyed a seven-game winning streak during the course of the season.

Led by a relatively young team, Highland finished the season with a 16-10 record and reached the sectional finals before falling to Lake Central, 8-3, in the championship game.

Sweet Home "Chicago"

Students who attended Highland's annual Turnabout dance on Friday, January 16, at Villa Caesar in Schererville braved below freezing temperatures and gusting winds. Despite the frigid conditions, students still enjoyed getting "dolled" up for the "big" dance, and many said that it was worth it in the end. The theme of the dance was "Chicago," and, upon arrival, students were ready to have fun. Somewhere twirling around the dance floor you would have found one of these: a happy couple, best friends dancing and singing and not caring who is watching, or two people who just met, or a combination of all three. When students were not on the dance floor, they may have been standing in line for pictures, or taking pictures themselves. Needless to say, they were all smiling in "Chicago."

Come Fly With Me

May 16th brought joy to many students who attended Prom 2009. Looking their best, Prom attendees danced to their favorite songs, embracing every moment with their friends. After the votes were recorded, juniors Evan Jameyfield and Nina Kepler were proudly recognized as King and Queen on the surprisingly sunny and warm Saturday evening. Balloons and other decorations made everyone feel as if they were floating on clouds. Dinner and everything else was enjoyed by everyone. It is safe to assume that Prom 2009 will be unforgettable.

2009 Staff

Volume 50 Shield "Something New" was designed by Editor Rebecca Lamski. The division sections were designed by Division Editor Kayla Lindsey. The business ads and senior ads were designed by Business Editors Kathryn Wiley and Kristina Sullivan, as well as Lamski. Layouts for the underclassmen and seniors sections were designed by Lamski.

For the sixth consecutive year, the Shield was a full color yearbook, utilizing a variety of blended colors and the most innovative typography.

Spread templates were designed by the Editors of the 2009 Shield utilizing the on-line program eDesign that was provided by the yearbook printer Herff Jones. All of the photographs in the yearbook are digital images taken by the students on staff, the yearbook's school photographer Prestige Portraits/Lifetouch, or by special contributors. The layouts were then completed by the students on staff in the journalism computer lab. Ultimately, the completed layouts, according to deadlines, were then submitted on-line to the plant for printing.

Mrs. Lisa Keene and Ms. Julie Ritchie were our representatives from Herff Jones, P.O. Box 10, 6015 Travis Lane, Mission, KS 66201.

I have discovered that the production of a yearbook is comprised of numerous challenges, adversity, and obstacles. There were many changes this year, too, which required myself and the staff to adjust to a new way of doing things to accomplish the goal. I am grateful to the staff for assuming leadership positions in the class when I couldn't be there for you because of other commitments. Thanks for respecting my decisions, and thank you for helping to make this yearbook with me. Enjoy what you have created! The memories will last forever!

Good luck to the Shield Staff of 2010!

-- Becca Lamski, 2009 Shield Editor

for Kayla Lindsey

I couldn't have done this book without your help. Things were very different this year and you took on the task of being the one in charge when I couldn't always be there. I appreciate all that you did and I can't thank you enough. I am certain it was stressful at times, but you handled everything very well. It has been a pleasure creating two yearbooks with you! With all of that talent you showed me in ad designing last year and layout designing this year, along with the leadership skills and dedication you possess, I sadly relinquish my title of yearbook editor, but I couldn't think of a more qualified person I would rather give it to. Everything is up to you next year, and I know you will do a great job! Good Luck Kayla! I can't wait to see the book when I come back to visit!

We are, in the truest sense, all searching for Something New. Life is a progression filled with many new and exciting stages. Some choose to go faster than others, rounding the corner to see what is ahead, while others are more cautious and approach each turn with great care. It's your life. Hang on to your dreams and fulfill your destiny.

WORLD YEARBOOK

 HERFF JONES

TIGER WOODS won his third U.S. Open title at Torrey Pines, outlasting Rocco Mediate on the 19th hole of a play-off. BILL GATES, Microsoft's chairman and largest shareholder, marked the unofficial end of his career, "retiring" to spend more time guiding his charitable foundation. NASA's space shuttle Discovery landed safely in Florida after delivering a new Japanese laboratory to the International Space Station.

NEW ORLEANS RAPPER LIL WAYNE grew his fan base with free songs, then sold more than a million copies of "Tha Carter III" in a week, the first album since 2005 to do so.

MIDWESTERN FLOODING caused by severe storms that dropped nearly a foot of rain from Iowa to Michigan and Indiana displaced thousands and left at least eight dead.

A TENNESSEE REPEAT made Coach Pat Summitt's Lady Vols the NCAA champions for a second consecutive year; Candace Parker won back-to-back MVP honors.

OBAMA'S NOMINATION

made history when, on June 3, 2008, Barack Obama finally had what he needed — more than 2,118 delegates — to clinch the Democratic nomination and become the first African-American with a viable chance of winning the United States presidency. Obama, an Illinois senator in office less than four years, and New York senator and former First Lady Hillary Clinton had campaigned from coast to coast for months for the right to face Republican John McCain in the Nov. 4 general election.

"THE DARK KNIGHT,"

a sequel to Christopher Nolan's "Batman Begins," shattered box office records with its July release. In just 10 days, the superhero thriller brought in more than $300 million at the box office, eclipsing the mark held by "Dead Man's Chest" by nearly a week. Filmed in Chicago, the movie's special effects, musical scores and viral marketing added to its allure and mystique. "The Dark Knight" was nominated for eight Academy Awards, including a posthumous nod for Heath Ledger (for Best Supporting Actor as the Joker). Attempting to enhance its Oscar-winning chances and to surpass $1 billion in worldwide gross, the film was re-released on Jan. 23, 2009.

TOUR DE FRANCE

winner Carlos Sastre wore the leader's famed yellow jersey on the final day of the three-week race. The Spaniard won the 95th title by just 58 seconds.

PRESIDENT BUSH'S

noted July legislation included lifting a 17-year ban on off-shore drilling and signing a rescue bill into law, hoping to bolster the sagging housing market.

BERNIE MAC'S DEATH saddened fans of the 50-year-old Chicago comedian/actor.

meant national pride, athletic competition, pageantry and more. More than 10,000 athletes competed in 300-plus events in 28 sports at 31 competitive venues, many of which had been constructed specifically for the Olympics. An estimated 6.8 million tickets were sold for the various competitions, and the Beijing Olympics was officially the most-watched television event of all time. Through 16 days of coverage, 211 million viewers tuned in to the Olympics on NBC. Among the American success stories were Kerri Walsh and Misty May-Treanor's consecutive golds in beach volleyball, the gold won by U.S. men's basketball team after a disappointing bronze in Athens and swimmer Michael Phelps' eight golds, which brought his lifetime total to 14 Olympic golds.

were back in the news for the first time since the terrorist attacks of 9/11 crippled the already-ailing airline industry. Beginning with a $30 billion assist in the March acquisition of financial giant Bear Stearns by JP Morgan Chase, a series of federal aid bills aimed at preventing collapses of myriad finance and investment businesses were signed into effect. In October, President George Bush signed a $700 billion financial bailout package which would allow the government to start buying up troubled assets from financial institutions caught in the home foreclosure epidemic.

There is a growing awareness of the need to address the needs of older people in the community. The Department of Health (1999) has published a strategy for older people, which sets out the government's commitment to older people and the actions that will be taken to improve their lives. The strategy is based on the following principles:

- Older people should be able to live independently and actively in the community.
- Older people should be able to access the services and facilities they need.
- Older people should be able to participate in the decisions that affect their lives.
- Older people should be able to live in a safe and secure environment.

The strategy also sets out a number of specific actions that will be taken to improve the lives of older people, including:

- Improving the quality of care in residential care homes.
- Improving the quality of care in nursing homes.
- Improving the quality of care in care homes for people with mental health problems.
- Improving the quality of care in care homes for people with learning disabilities.
